

Allies Broaden Bridgehead North Of Parallel 38

Tokyo, Monday, (AP)—Allied forces today broadened their bridgehead north of the 38th parallel on the east-central Korean front against light Red resistance.

Fighting flared again on the central and eastern fronts. Elsewhere Allied tank-infantry patrols probed a 20-mile-deep no man's land without meeting major Red forces.

AP Correspondent Robert Eunsun, at U. S. Eighth Army headquarters, reported United Nations patrols crossing Parallel 38 southwest of Inje. Inje is about 25 miles inland from the east coast.

An Eighth Army spokesman said a force of some 500 Korean Reds was attacking on the eastern front, where Allied positions have remained above the parallel.

On the central front, a series of sharp skirmishes blazed north of Chunchon. Eunsun reported U. N. forces were gradually rolling their lines forward, taking up slack.

American tanks pushed north of Uijongbu yesterday on the western front without finding any Reds. Uijongbu is 11 miles north of Seoul, rubble old South Korean capital.

The Eighth Army estimated Red casualties yesterday at 570 killed or wounded with 23 prisoners taken. The small casualty figures underlined the lull on the warfronts yesterday.

Communist buildups of supplies and manpower continued in North Korea. But there was no sign of a resumption of the Red spring offensive that began April 22 and rolled almost to Seoul before it bogged down.

Eleven B-29 Superfortresses last night struck heavily at a large Red supply concentration at the west coast port of Chinnampo. The bomber strike was among about 1,000 sorties flown by Allied fighters and bombers yesterday.

The bulk of the Chinese and North Korean Red Army of more than 500,000 men apparently had retired to cover.

Field dispatches filtering through close U. S. Eighth Army censorship said the Communists showed little inclination to take the initiative after failure of their big spring offensive which began two weeks ago.

Unusually large truck movements behind enemy lines were noted, however, by U. S. Fifth Air Force and Marine night fighter-bombers. The Air Force reported more than 300 enemy vehicles destroyed or damaged out of 3,745 sighted.

An enemy troop camp near the Hwachon reservoir on the central front was strafed just after sunrise yesterday.

Cal Rassler Gets Permit To Tote Gun

Rome, Ga., (AP)—A tall, attractive blonde walked into the ordinary's office and announced: "I want a pistol tote's license."

"Why?" ordinary Hollis Hollingsworth asked.

"I work at a restaurant," she related. "I get off late at night, and I walk about half a mile to my home."

"Some men know what time I come by every night, and they've been bothering me. The other night, one of them grabbed me around the neck. I threw him over my shoulder, but he knicked me in the ribs and broke two."

Further questioning disclosed her name was Becky Taylor, her age 19, that she has been a professional wrestler — under another name — and that she had won 18 of 20 bouts.

Miss Taylor said she had figured she was able to take care of herself, until she got her ribs broken when she applied the hammerlock to the man the other night.

Senators Remain Sharply Divided On War Policies

Washington (AP)—Senator Cain (R-Wash.) called yesterday for a declaration of war on Red China to end the "raging blood bath" in Korea. And Senator Kerr (D-Okla.) declared that the cost in human misery would be vastly greater if the Korean war spreads.

With this clash of opinion, the Truman-MacArthur controversy broke out with renewed violence in the wake of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's marathon testimony to Senators investigating his dismissal by the President.

One of the lawmakers who heard MacArthur in closed session, Senator Brewster (R-Me.), predicted that public opinion here and abroad will force the adoption of the general's win-the-war program within a month.

But Rep. Blatnik (D-Minn.), a World War Two intelligence officer, said expanding the Korean war give Russia its chance to march on Western Europe and the Middle East.

Marshall May Argue Mac's View Limited

Washington, (AP)—A main line of administration defense in Gen. Douglas MacArthur's power drive against the policy of "limited" war in Korea may be a contention that the general simply lacks the information to qualify him for final judgment on issues reaching outside the Orient.

The shadowy outlines of such a possible strategy began to emerge yesterday on the eve of Secretary of Defense Marshall's appearance as leadoff man for the Pentagon and the White House.

Of one thing nobody had any doubt: Marshall in testimony before combined Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations committees will counter MacArthur's scathing three-day attack with the plea that the MacArthur way may well be the way to general war. That is the stated view of President Truman who fired MacArthur from his Far East command.

The deposed general's opposite view, restated countless times in the marathon stint on the witness stand which he completed late Saturday, is that World War Three is more likely to grow out of failure to whip Communist China completely in Korea.

MacArthur argued that stalemate there—or the "appeasement" of which he expressed fear—would look to Soviet Russia like a signal of western weakness and a sign to strike.

Against this the secretary of defense, like MacArthur a veteran military man and five-star general, is expected to contend that the risk of setting off direct Russian intervention by air operations over Manchuria, blockading China and using the Nationalist Chinese troops from Formosa.

Those are MacArthur's concrete proposals to bring what he said would be victory over Red China instead of a "bloody stalemate."

Throughout the three days MacArthur was on the stand administration senators dealt gingerly and considerably with him, and kept their own counsel as to just what lines the rebuttal may take.

But with the record on MacArthur's side of the issue finally completed, a rescanning of some 174,000 words of hearing transcript shows repeated efforts to draw MacArthur out on matters outside the Orient where he has been busy the past 14 years.

The general was firm on every such occasion in his view that strong American action for actual military victory in Korea would be likely actually to slow down or head off Kremlin moves both there and elsewhere. He stated the flat opinion that the free world is "doomed to destruction" if it fails to crush the Red threat completely in Korea. He said the west's real "first line of defense" is there.

But he shied away from anything but broad generalities when discussion moved outside the Orient.

Reds Peril Allied Air Superiority

Washington, (AP)—Air Force Secretary Finletter said last night "very important" additions to Communist air potential in Korea threaten complete Allied air superiority.

The Communists have been reported massing an Air Force in Manchuria but as yet have not thrown it fully into battle. American planes blasting at Red troops and supplies usually have little aerial opposition—a big help to the Allies.

"There have been substantial additions to the North Korean and Chinese Air Force," Finletter said.

Obviously referring to Russia, he added: "These additions could come from only one source—the North Koreans and the Chinese can not make planes."

Chinese Use New Type Of Jet Fighter

Tokyo, (AP)—The Chinese are using a new type jet fighter in the Korean air war.

Three of them made an appearance early yesterday when they attacked a lone B-26 returning from a night mission in northwestern Korea.

They followed the American plane approximately 20 minutes, making several ineffectual passes before breaking away.

It was the third appearance of the mysterious night flying Communist jet, apparently Russian-made.

The Air Force is withholding further information about the jets until a more detailed description, based mostly on pilot reports, can be obtained.

One reason for the scarcity of information comes from the fact that in every case the new-type jets—possibly heavier than the familiar MIG-15 fighter—have attacked U. N. planes at night or in hours before dawn.

Cocke Calls For Ike To Testify

Chicago (AP)—The 29-year-old national commander of the American Legion yesterday urged that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower testify before the same Senate groups who heard Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Commander Erle Cocke said this would help in the "fog lifting process."

But the ride had only started. Minutes later, as the colonel sped down a valley, the colonel spiked some Chinese troops marching down a road.

"We'll get 'em," he said.

He strafed them with his machinegun and then suddenly we were climbing straight up.

In a split second we were upside down and then we were pointed straight at the ground, diving at terrific speed.

I did not recognize the maneuver as a loop, performed to get the plane in position for another strafing effort as quickly as possible.

I figured the pilot was dead, hit by enemy fire and reasoned I would be dead too, shortly.

At the last possible moment, however, the colonel hauled back on the stick and the diving plane leveled off, right over the road and its guns were blasting again.

The leveling off forced me right down into the seat and compressed me to one-half my normal size. Barely conscious, I heard the colonel chuckle into the interphone: "We were really getting them. They're trying to hide."

I could not even groan. I had lost interest in the Chinese. At least they had a place to hide and I had none and we were looping again.

The pullout of the second dive compressed me to one-third of normal size. My stomach will not permit me to speak of the seven loops that followed. They were the ultimate torment and when they were done I was a shapeless blob in the back seat.

Homeward bound, the colonel was daisy-fresh and chatty. He seemed to think it odd that I did not reply to his cheerful remarks about the terrain and the weather.

My vocal cords were non-operative, but I found my lost voice when he asked:

"Would you like to do a couple of snap rolls?"

"Hell no!" I croaked.

23 Airmen Die In Flaming B-36 Crash In Sandstorm

Three Suffer Painful Injuries At Head-On Collision; Two Occupants Pulled To Safety As Car Catches Fire

Fern Ridge—Two persons were seriously injured and another was badly hurt in a two-car head-on collision on Route 115 in front of Ira Knorr's Log Cabin at 6:45 a. m. yesterday.

The accident victims were Frank Dally, 53, proprietor of the Blakeslee inn at Blakeslee and Dally's tavern on Market St. in Bangor; John Cusick, 57, of Lake Rd., Blytheburn, Luzerne county; and his wife, Mrs. Bridget Cusick, 51.

All three were rushed to Monroe County General hospital in separate ambulances after receiving first aid and preliminary treatment on the scene from an unidentified nurse and two physicians.

Conditions of all three of the injured were listed as "fair" in a hospital report at 11:15 p. m.

Dally, one of the drivers, was reported to have received possible fractures of the right arm, right ankle, and nose as well as multiple lacerations of the face.

King Farouk Weds Young And Beautiful Commoner

Cairo, Egypt, (AP)—King Farouk took beautiful Narriman Sadek to be his queen yesterday and all Egypt celebrated with abandon the climax of the royal romance.

From Cairo's ancient citadel 101 salute guns boomed the announcement at 11 a. m. of the signing on the formal marriage contract at spacious Kubbah palace—a ceremony which in a twinkling raised the 17-year-old commoner to Queen of Egypt.

Six hours later lovely Queen Narriman, wearing a diamond diadem and white Parisian wedding gown with a train 14 feet long and 70 feet around, drove in regal salute guns boomed the announcement from her mother's modest home to Abdin palace for her first public appearance.

Last night all Cairo was ablaze with lights and festivities in honor not only of the royal match but also of the 15th anniversary of the reign of Farouk I.

The 31-year-old King wore a formal gray morning coat at the ceremony lasting but 20 minutes. Only five persons were present, the president of the Moslem shari, or court, who officiated, the monarch and his two witnesses, the chief chamberlain and the chief of the Royal Cabinet, and Narriman's Uncle, Mohamed Aly Sadek Bey, ambassador to the Hague.

Members of the royal family, including the 75-year-old Crown Prince Mohammed Aly, waited in another chamber, members of the Cabinet in a third and the relatives of the bride in yet another. She herself remained at her widowed mother's house, three miles away.

The Moslem formula called for the president of the court to ask Farouk if he took Narriman as his wife. A similar question was asked of Narriman's uncle. Then all linked hands while the sheik repeated the first passages from the Koran, the Moslem Bible.

The new Queen was a vision of white from head to toe. She wore a diamond crown and glittering necklace given by King Farouk, and hand-embroidered Venetian lace veil.

The gown was of pure white satin worked with silver thread and embroidered with wild hedge roses.

Huge Plane Explodes, Then Burns

Albuquerque, N. Mex., (AP)—Twenty-three airmen died yesterday in the flaming crash of a B-36 bomber on the outskirts of Albuquerque.

It was the fifth and worst crash of a B-36, largest U.S. bomber. The Air force put its first B-36 into operation in August 1946.

Only two of the 25 men aboard the plane survive. They are badly injured.

The six-engine bomber crashed and burned at 12:30 p. m. (MST) in a blinding sandstorm on Kirtland Air Force base. The wreckage was scattered over 1,000 feet, barely two blocks from the municipal air terminal.

Minutes before, the big craft had thundered low over the Albuquerque business area. It came in for the ill-fated landing after a three-hour flight from Carswell Air Force Base, Fort Worth, Tex.

One wing dipped to the earth as the plane came in. Dust obscured the paved runway. The plane bounced and careened in a circle to the right. Flames burst out in the right outboard engine.

When the plane touched ground again, it exploded.

"I didn't want to look," Lt. William S. Knipple of Albuquerque said. "I turned my back."

Carl Lund, another witness, said there was "a blinding flash of flame that towered more than a hundred feet in the air—then the sound of an explosion."

Col. P. B. Griffith, commanding officer at Kirtland, said 22 of the men were killed in the crash. The other man died at nearby Sandia base hospital, where the injured were taken.

"I looked out the window and it looked like a burning oil field," Col. Griffith said.

He said it is believed the wing of the craft dipped as the plane blew a jet pod just before the crash. The B-36 has four jet auxiliary engines in addition to its six pusher type propeller engines.

A jet pod is the wingtip container for the jet engines. On the B-36 there are two engines in each pod, located on the wingtips.

It took only five minutes for firemen to reach the scene, but their efforts were hampered by oil fire, which flashed to three other planes parked nearby. An Air Force C-54, a Beacher Bonanza and a Lockheed twin-engine transport were badly damaged.

It was the fifth B-36 to crash since the Air Force began operating in August, 1946. The others took a combined toll of 26 lives.

Carswell field said the plane carried eight maintenance men above its normal crew of 16. He said the eight were being taken to Kirtland for temporary duty.

Chemical Plant Explosion Felt 60 Miles Away

Sarnia, Ont., (AP)—A giant blast rocked the great polymer synthetic rubber and chemical plant south of here late last night. Police said no one was killed and three workers were injured, not seriously.

Fire followed the explosion but the plant's fire department reported it had the flames under control an hour after the blast.

The explosion, which rocked this west Ontario city and was felt as far away as London, 60 miles to the east, occurred in a building containing butadiene, a highly inflammable gas used in production of synthetic rubber. The building was located at the west end of the 87-acre plant, which is just south of here.

The plant fire fighters said the flames covered an area about 300 feet square. At their peak they leaped 100 feet in the air and a cloud of oily smoke hung over the whole plant.

Johnson Asks Strict Controls

Washington (AP)—Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston said yesterday wage-price controls are throttling inflation, but they can't do the job long without higher taxes and stricter credit curbs.

Johnson predicted that inflation's "real fire" will begin next fall and the country must be ready to hold it in check or mobilization costs will soar sky-high.

Duckloe Firm Takes Over Kayser Plant

Portland — The former Julius Kayser Co., mill on Delaware Ave., here has been taken over by Frederick Duckloe & Brothers. They plan to have their finishing department, heretofore a part of the Route 611 manufacturing plant, in operation today.

Manufacture of colonial and provincial furniture will be continued at the old building which has been used for that purpose the last 11 years.

The Kayser mill closed on March 2 after more than 25 years of operation. It was sold a short time later to John Miller, assistant superintendent of the Bangor Kayser plant.

Frederick, Howard and Norman Duckloe, present operators, are the third generation of the family to be engaged in that trade. The firm has some 25 employees in Portland, Stroudsburg and Delaware, N.J.

Mrs. Mollie Gladstone

Mollie Gladstone To Speak Before UJA Drive Workers

Mollie Gladstone, director of arts and crafts for the Jewish Folks Institute of New York City, will speak at the Penn-Stroud hotel Thursday at 7 p. m., at a meeting to augment the 1951 United Jewish Appeal campaign.

Mrs. Gladstone visited Israel recently to study the progress of the arts and sciences in the new Jewish state.

She made a study of housing problems in the rapidly expanding country and will relate the story of town planning as it is now going on in Israel.

Mrs. Gladstone is known in this country as an artist, sculptress, costume designer and actress. She was a star of Broadway's success, "Pins and Needles," and has designed costumes for Maurice Schwartz's Yiddish Art theater.

A native New Yorker, Mrs. Gladstone is a graduate of Hunter College. She has served as dialogue and diction coach for a number of foreign-born Hollywood actors.

Funds raised in the 1951 United Jewish Appeal campaign will speed the transfer to Israel of 200,000 homeless Jews in Europe and Moslem areas; build 120 settlements and new homes to hasten their absorption and integration; furnish help to 400,000 Jews in other countries overseas and help to resettle 25,000 newcomers expected in the United States this year.

Head of the appeal's local campaign are Dr. Neal Josephson and Maxwell H. Cohen. Co-chairman of the dinner committee are Benjamin Howitt and Theodore Getz.

Choral Group To Feature Waring Techniques Tonight

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College auditorium is expected to be filled—what with sales of tickets at the door before 8 p. m.—for the charity concert being presented tonight by University of Tulsa choral group under direction of Arthur Hestwood.

Sponsored by the Stroudsburg Rotary club as a means of expanding their charity and operations, the concert will feature many arrangements and techniques of Fred Waring and his staff of top-flight musicians.

Mr. Hestwood is a product of the Waring training and is thoroughly familiar with Waring arrangements. More than just notes, these arrangements represent the ideas and imagination of Mr. Waring and his staff who have been long associated with Waring's credo, "the song is the thing."

The famous Tulsa group, already in the East for radio and television appearances which some people in this region have heard, has an outstanding program beamed at appeal to every person interested in good music and good harmony produced with a technique which emphasizes greater belief and intensity in the singing of those songs which mean the most in the lives of the people of the country.

State Foresters, Volunteer Crews Battle Series Of Forest Fires

Burned-Over Areas Total 1,900 Acres

State foresters and members of the West End and Tannersville fire companies put down a 600-acre forest fire yesterday after the blaze burned through scrub oak and sections of young saplings from a point near McMichael's to Route 115.

But while the fighters were gaining control of the West End fire, another broke out in the Goose pond section of Greene township, Pike county, about five miles northeast of Skypot.

At least 300 acres burned on State forest land and the Bright Creek club tract in the Greene township fire and, according to District Forester E. Clyde Pyle, that blaze was still burning last night.

Several other small forest fires of less serious degree were put down in the Pocono area Saturday and yesterday.

The largest fire of the weekend burned over approximately 1,000 acres west of Deep Lake between Tannersville and Long Pond on Saturday. Most of this territory was in inaccessible, unprotected land.

It burned until it reached State game lands and was then stopped. Reports late last night indicated that the fire beyond McMichael's was still smoldering, but patrols were on duty to guard against any fresh outbreak.

Earlier, the flames had approached buildings on the Ford Bond farm, and the fire companies rushed trucks and equipment in to protect the home and barn buildings.

District Forester Pyle said the fire northeast of Skypot in Pike county started along a stream and is burning through an area in which there are at least three or four hunting camps.

He had received no word of any damage to those places, however.

Cramer Held For Court

Willard Cramer, 41, of 52 N. Second St., was committed to Monroe county jail Saturday after hearings on two charges before Justice of the Peace Marshall H. Neyhart.

He was ordered held for court on an assault and battery charge preferred by Lena Cramer, of the same N. Second St. address, and was fined $15 on a disorderly conduct charge brought by Chief James McConnell, of Stroudsburg police.

Bail on the assault charge was set at $500. Sentence on the second charge read $15 fine and $10 costs, or 20 days in jail, but the defendant was found in default on both.

Engine Of Power Saw Backfires, Starts Blaze

A spark from a backfiring power saw ignited dry pine needles at the William Wells residence near the Glen Brook section in Stroud township shortly after 2:30 p. m. Saturday.

Stroud township firemen were called, but the blaze was under control when they arrived. It had spread wildly after hitting the tinder dry needles, but there was no serious damage, although a portion of the freshly sawed wood was burned.

Sergeant In Critical Condition

Condition of Sfc. Ralph A. Sommers, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Sommers, 117 S. Eighth St., Stroudsburg, last night was described as "critical".

The 47-year-old infantryman was in training with Company G at Camp Atterbury, Ind., when he was taken seriously ill.

His parents flew to nearby Indianapolis Friday only to learn Sergeant Sommers was transferred to the Valley Forge hospital. Mr. Sommers was told he was moved there because of the better facilities available. At that time his condition had improved slightly, but last night doctors told the parents his condition was very serious again.

Mr. and Mrs. Sommers returned home from Valley Forge hospital shortly before 7 p. m. yesterday. Mr. Sommers remained but his wife left again for the hospital.

Sergeant Sommers has been a member of Company G for 24 years. He saw action several times during World War Two and was discharged just a week before he would have completed five years of war service.

Two Coupes Collide At Snydersville

Snydersville — A 1931 coupe and a 1940 coupe collided here at 1:45 p. m. yesterday, causing $300 damage to the two vehicles.

Stroudsburg State police identified the two drivers as Fred J. Zeitz, 35, of 7 Park Ave., New York, who was driving the older coupe southward on Route 12, and Clark E. Beltz, 25, of Palmerton RD 1, who was proceeding eastward on Route 209.

At the intersection of the two highways, Zeitz reportedly pulled around a vehicle stopped at the intersection, swung into the intersection and hit the oncoming Beltz machine.

Front end of the Palmerton area car was smashed, while damage to the other coupe, owned by Harry J. Zeitz, of Bartonsville, was confined to the right front section. Both vehicles were towed to garages.

Thousands Of College Men To Take Test

Washington, (AP)—The man in charge of the forthcoming aptitude tests for draft-eligible college men estimated yesterday that 200,000 will take the first one May 26.

Henry Chauncey, president of the Princeton, N. J., organization which is conducting the nationwide test, said that college men are applying for the test at the rate of 15,000 a day.

The students have until May 15 to apply for the test, on cards obtainable from draft boards. Local boards may decide whether to defer a college student either on the basis of a 70-or-better score in the test or upon high scholastic standing in the classroom.

Chauncey estimated that more than 500,000 will apply for the test, which are being given on three Saturdays—May 26, June 16, and June 30—and on Thursday, July 12.

Try And Stop Me

Farmer Jepson came storming out of the house brandishing his shot gun and shouting, "Dad bust it, Ezzy Jones, I told you to quit courtin' my daughter. Now you git into that mangy old truck of yours, and git off my property once and fer all." Ezzy discreetly released Miss Jepson from his arms, and climbed into his truck — but as he drove off he had the last word. "You old skinkfin!" he jeered. "I'd run right over you if I wasn't scared of puncturin' all my tires."

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood — "The Thing" — the movie, not the song — is about a weird monster from another planet. Stock characters and unconvincing theory keep it from being more than a mild shocker.

A 20,000-ton, saucer-like steel object crashes near the North Pole. Army men and scientists find an occupant frozen in the ice. Taken to expedition headquarters and accidentally thawed out, he comes to life. Tall and powerful, with a bald, bulbous head and scraggly hands, he apparently has super-intelligence.

Dogs chew off his forearm, but it remains alive. Bullets and fire don't stop him. His plant-like regenerative power, demonstrated in the polar laboratory, indicate he's here to overwhelm the earth. Knowing what kind of critter this is supposed to be would spoil the movie for you. But more graphic presentation of scientific bases for his existence — instead of just palaver about them — would have helped the movie.

An amateur - theatrical - type scientist, complete with goatee, wants to keep the monster alive for study. A Hollywood-style newspaper, with campus-cub lines like "I gotta get a story some place," affords some comedy relief. Kenneth Tobey is outstanding in the cast of movie unknowns as a forceful Army captain who wants to destroy the monster.

"Bullfighter and the Lady" is about an American, Robert Stack, who learns bull-fighting from Gilbert Roland to impress a senorita, Joy Page. The bull-fighting sequences, ranging from small ranches to Mexico City's big arena, are exciting enough to interest even people who just naturally don't like bullfighting.

The film, a walkaway for the suave Roland, was shot entirely in Mexico. It was directed and partly written by Budd Boetticher who injured his knee as an Ohio State quarterback about 15 years ago. He headed for South America to recuperate. He never got farther than Mexico, where he became fascinated by bullfighting — like his movie's hero — and learned it. As "Senior Budd" he had 18 major fights. Then he came to Hollywood as technical adviser on "Blood and Sand." He remained and worked his way up to director of, to date, 16 movies.

What About The Koreans?

We are constantly being told how many Americans and Chinese are being killed in Korea. But what about the Koreans? How many Koreans have been killed? How many Korean women and children have been killed? How many babies have died of shell shock, of starvation?

This war must seem so unbelievable to the Koreans. First, their country is promised its independence. Then they are told that they are being united. Now they know that they are being eternally united in death.

These great men who sit in Kremlin and Pentagon seem to have forgotten altogether that human beings are not lice; that every human creature upon this earth is entitled to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, to say the least.

The monarchs who sit about planning the future treat mankind as though nothing counted but their machines of destruction. General Douglas MacArthur sought to bring that Korean war to a quick end, so that we could get out of that damned spot and bring our sons home.

But the great statesmen, the geniuses of the United Nations and the State Department and Downing Street had planned it differently and their plans go awry with each new twist of their immature minds. But people die. That is what is so important — people die. Already more than 10,500 Americans have been killed in this stalemated war. We do not know how many Chinese have been killed; we do not know how many Koreans have been killed. And they are people, too.

Korea used to be called the hermit kingdom. They kept out of the so-called world and were unbothered. Now, they have been made a major item in the news. The word, Korea, appears in headlines. Even children have heard about Seoul and Inchon. But Koreans are being killed and Seoul has become a heap of rubble.

Seoul has been the capital for nearly 600 years but now is a mound of broken stone. Who is so mighty that he can smash other people's worlds without mercy? And who is so all-powerful that he can say that Koreans can be wiped off the face of the earth, but that Chinese Communists may live in a sanctuary and that Soviet Russia is to be worshipped as Baal?

What heathen misery has come over us that we have lost all sense of pity, mercy, compassion; that the innocent are even more punished than the guilty; that homes are destroyed and temples desolated and the world has not even a tear for the wretched people whose only crime has been that they were born in the wrong place!

I sat recently with a group of those very sure men who never doubt that their machinations and tricks will bring them wealth and power. Some of them were the kind of business men who live on the cupidry of politicians. They know how to arrange things. While they are generally regarded with great favor among the people because of their success, it has become increasingly clear to me over the years that when they sing paeans over a public official in unison, sure as thunder that public official will show up sooner or later as a crook or a charlatan or swine. As a reporter, I am always suspicious of the masters of the quick buck.

And now they hate General Douglas MacArthur. Whenever one meets these men, they speak badly of MacArthur. They whisper gossip about him. They say, "He got rich in the Philippines!" I like to say, "You got rich in New York by selling black market sugar or hot oil!" Of what avail is it to give them the lie? They are proud of their lies, just as some Americans are proud of running the China blockade. It is not their sons or grandsons who died because they ran the blockade.

And when their sons are involved, they will know some politician who will get desk jobs for their offspring in Washington for the duration of any war.

These people hate MacArthur because they fear that a moral upsurge might drive the present brood of fixers out of Washington and they will have to make new connections, which they may not be able to do.

Just as they never give Korea a thought, so they actually never give America a thought. They only give the dollar a thought. They are our weakness, for they produce an emptiness in the soul of anyone who listens to their obscene prattle.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Cross Examination of the Crime Commission

"Members of the Kefauver Crime Commission, take the stand! . . . Hold up your right hand! . . . You solemnly swear, etc., etc? . . . Just a few pertinent questions with regard to that report . . . If the Congress of the United States fails to pass most of the laws urged by your committee, thus plugging the loopholes through which the tough mugs have been kept in circulation for decades, will they be any less guilty of the 'action or inaction, helps racketeers' than, for example, Bill O'Dwyer? . . . And, as the crime picture now stands, don't hundreds of Senators and Representatives belong in the same alley of indifference in which you place the ex-Mayor of New York? . . . Haven't they pigeon-holed a carload of anti-crime laws, especially with regard to immigration and deportations? . . . Can the public expect an all-out fight from you for new legislation in view of the fact you so quietly settled for a brief extension of your dramatic probe? . . . Won't all the laws in the world be so much baloney in the war on mobsters unless the Bar Associations, as you urge, crack down on lawyers who work hand in glove with the top racketeers of the country? (Answer yes or no!)"

"Is there any job before Congress today calling for more speed in action than the passage of legislation to save the children of America from drug peddlars who operate with comparative ease and get mild penalties even for second offenses? Do you look for swift work on changes in the deportation laws so that top gangsters can no longer thumb their noses at them? . . . (Wanda be?)"

"Is there really much chance of getting very far against the underworld, even with new laws, so long as businessmen toss lucrative contracts to known mobsters, or so long as city officials, judges and top citizens hobnob with infamous gangsters at race tracks, ball games and super-duper banquets? . . . If we tabbed every mayor in America who played ball with the 'organization' and kept the votes always in top consideration wouldn't we need to double our jails and put four boys to a cell? . . . Weren't you a little rough on ex-Mayor O'Dwyer of New York? . . . Does it seem to make sense that a man pictured as that kind of a 'bad-die' would start at the bottom, slaving in the engine room of a tramp steamer, toil as a hod carrier, plasterer and dock worker; and, as a cop, study nights to get his law degree? . . . Is it quite in the pattern for a corrupt man to do it the hard way? . . . (Yes, you may consult counsel before answering.)"

"Don't you think that a half dozen known lawyers — confederates of notorious mobsters (the boys whose 'relation to organized criminal gangs and individual mobsters pass all lines of reasonable client-counsel relationships' — can ease the way for these crooks more than 50 mayors, good, bad or indifferent? . . . 'These lawyers have become integral parts of the conspiracy,' you say. . . . Okay, American Bar Association, watcha waitin' for? . . . (And don't refuse to answer on the ground it might incriminate, degrade or embarrass you.)"

"One more question, gentlemen of the Kefauver Committee — Do you sincerely believe the public indignation needed to get results can be looked for without a recall for the video audience of those top mobsters who were last seen on the screen defying the authority of the United States Senate, leering at your committee and saying 'Phooey' to threats of perjury indictments? . . . And what about those important witnesses who even to this day have ignored your subpoenas, refused to come in and never even been located? . . . Talk about law, mayors and governors seeming powerless when up against racketeers. Are you that helpless in a showdown? . . . (No, we won't accept a written statement on that point.) . . . Oh well, we shall see what we shall see. . . . And we are betting (not by bookmaker) that unless the committee keeps slugging, and by video, we don't expect to see very much."

Vanishing Americans
"I can give you a big allowance on your old car."

"Let's state our conclusions in a fairly brief report to the public."

"Take back this steak; it's too tough."

Rudolph Halley has retired as star digger-upper and counsel for the Kefauver Committee. This strikes us as a good deal like hearing that DiMaggio has been taken out of the Yankee lineup.

My New York

—By Mel Heimer

London—One of the most foolish of suppositions, of course, is the one that supposes a man has to live in a country 20 years before he is an authority on it. Many of our best war correspondents disproved this only recently, when after two hours' stopover at a Ruritania airport, they immediately established themselves with solid authority as Ruritanian experts and wrote, lectured and spoke over the wireless (get the European touch? I'm no sluggard) about Ruritanian, ad infinitum. Thus, it follows as the night unto day, I now am an expert on England and things English.

Findings: The English must be one of the purest of races. The streets of London I find full of red-faced, sandy-haired, peculiarly shaped souls who couldn't be anything but what they are.

The English taxis are almost but not quite as old as those in Paris. A great many Englishmen (I may have been moving in the wrong set) are enormously polite superficially, and not so basically. There are a gigantic number of bad and false teeth here.

Piccadilly Circus, the Times Square of London, is a startlingly small area that might be mistaken for Main Street in Fort Wayne, Ind., on a Saturday night. When the English men are handsome, they are greatly so; when an English woman is beautiful, she is a femme fatale.

You can smoke anywhere in English movie houses and I imagine some of them are going to burn down one day, because of this. The food situation still seems to be hopeless here; the British are not noted as cooks and they have very little to work with, these days. However, at least the eggs are hard instead of powdered now, a sharp improvement over a year ago.

There still are a few, precious traces of the upper-class life left: e. g., the other day a baronet's daughter married a $16-a-week farm worker and Mrs. Baronet said sadly, "Mr. Boorman is an extremely nice fellow; I have nothing against him—in his class. But he is not exactly the person we hoped our only daughter would have married." The last stand of the stiff upper lip.

At this moment London appears full of Americans. Judy Garland is at the Palladium, doing the two-day and apparently, from the newspaper accounts, being somewhat over-size and greatly appreciated. Savannah Churchill, a fine American singer who I last heard at a little Baltimore club called the Ball, is at a little London club called the Colony, with Pearl Bailey, the greatest woman in the world, due to follow her. Nellie Lutcher is in vaudeville here and much more popular than in the States.

The American most Englishmen are talking about is Douglas MacArthur and all you have to do to start the smoke swirling in a pub is mention his name. The beer here still is bitter, but I guess that's how they like beer. England seems in better financial shape, but I haven't met anyone yet who cares very much for the government. Parliament is much more frivolous than Congress; the members laugh and joke and carry on. Whether they accomplish as much as Congress—how much is that?—I leave to the experts.

It has rained almost continuously since my arrival, but this is nothing. I am informed reliably it hasn't stopped for a year and a half. I note once again the remarkable difference between the Englishman and Scot; surely they are two distinct races.

Cigarettes are hideously expensive here, yet everyone on the street seems to be smoking. A precedent in history, Acheson has captured President Truman's mind, such as it is. He can move now, swiftly and with confidence that his directives to control the nation will be followed. Watch him go.

seasonably reliable perspective, from a friend of mine here, is that the Englishman's ambition has slipped sadly and that he now is preoccupied in the cradle-to-grave arrangement and wants only to be taken care of passably well for the length of his natural days.

Everyone—I doubt there are exceptions—plays the horses. The Tower of London still stands and still is impressive, but I must report truthfully that after I walked two miles to it, I discovered it was closed on Sundays. There was a mammoth governmental crisis recently on whether to cut the cheese ration a third. This makes my third visit to London, and darn it, they still can't make a dry martini.

The underground here is smaller, faster and cleaner than the New York subways, but that seems a bit indecent. Subways are supposed to be dirty, aren't they? Last, strange thought of an expatriate at bedtime; wonder how many pieces of cheesecake they sold in Lindy's today?

homage to their commander, and we saw him paying homage to them.

We saw the dignity of the General, the sweetness of his wife, the manliness of their thirteen-year-old boy.

We noticed the love and devotion of the General for that wife and that boy.

We thrilled to the song "God Bless America," sung by the policemen's and firemen's Glee Club.

Millions and millions of people cheered this man, millions shouted themselves hoarse in adoration.

And do you know why?

Not because he was a returned hero.

Not because they thought that a little man had done injustice to a giant.

Not because they had been given a few hours off from work and wanted to celebrate.

They cheered him because in him they saw AMERICA.

In him they not only saw and heard but once again FELT everything that is good and fine and noble in our life.

In him they FELT the culmination of everything that—though dimmed and blurred for the time being—America stands for and always will stand for.

There was no politics in that reception. These millions who paid honor to him were not Republicans or Democrats. They were AMERICANS.

So I shall not write about Mr. Truman's enjoyments of the boots.

There is an old saying that water rolls off a duck's back.

But why write about ducks when one has the glorious privilege to write about AMERICA?

"... And you've made me the SECOND happiest man in the world!"

The Phony Tax Hearing

The people of Pennsylvania finally are to get a public hearing on Governor Fine's proposal for a State income tax, and on the Governor's proposed $1,220,000,000 budget.

The Senate Finance Committee has consented to hear witnesses in a one-day—maybe a two-day—hearing.

And, from the sound of it, this hearing is going to be just like the trial of the western cattle thief back in the frontier days. If you remember your western lore, the judge announced in advance that he was going to give the culprit a fair trial and then hang him.

For after this hearing, the chances are excellent that we'll all have to pay the income tax, anyway. And that Governor Fine's over-stuffed budget will remain substantially intact.

The State budget is a big, thick book, full of numbers. It would take the senators—smart men that they are—a full day to read the book, let alone find out where the proposed expenditures could be cut.

And they'll have to do just that before they can find out whether the income tax is justified or unjustified. They'll have to go over much of that budget, item by item, quiz State officials and get expert evidence on tax collections.

That can't be done in a day, or in a week. It's a long, hard job. It took the personnel of the State Budget Office months to prepare. Unless the Senate Finance Committee is willing to spend weeks in looking over the budget with a gimlet eye, it isn't going to accomplish anything.

On the face of it, Finance Committee's offer to hear a few selected witnesses in a quickie hearing, is a fraud on the people of Pennsylvania. Nobody should be kidded—if this is the program of the committee, get set for a State income tax.

The fishy aroma about this hearing is heightened by the actions of the House of Representatives.

When the House passed the income tax bill — on the second try—House leaders arranged to hold back the bill to re-enact the income tax on corporations. This, with the implied threat that if the senators don't pass the personal income tax, the House will up the corporate income tax.

The Senate committee hearings were announced 15 minutes after the House approved the corporate income tax and sent it along to the Senate. Then came this bit of intelligence:

It was reported that House leaders had been assured that the administration tax program, including the income tax bill, will be passed promptly after the public hearings. That gives you the picture—complete with frame.

Small Business Help

Small business firms feeling the pinch of mobilization cutbacks are due for some help in the near future. The Department of Defense is opening 28 new sample, display and procurement information centers in 16 states. This brings to 62 the total number of such centers.

In addition to furnishing information about Army procurements, the centers will be authorized to accept bids from small businessmen wishing to supply the Armed Forces.

This move is considered to be another step toward keeping America's small business from folding in the face of government restrictions, and to allow it to compete with big business on an equal basis for mobilization contracts.

Margaret Helms Becomes Bride Of Forrest F. Marsh

Miss Margaret Adele Helms, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Helms, of 313 S. Courtland St., became the bride of Forrest F. Marsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Marsh, 5 Center St., both East Stroudsburg, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the East Stroudsburg Methodist church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Harold C. Eaton, pastor, in the presence of many relatives and friends of the couple. The altar was decorated with bouquets of snap dragons and Ernest Michelfelder, church organist, played appropriate wedding selections prior to and during the service.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white ballerina length gown with a fitted Chantilly lace bodice, featuring a Chantilly lace design on the net skirt. She wore a Juliet cap with shoulder length veil and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses, white carnations and gladioli.

Mrs. Audrey Lessig, also of 313 S. Courtland St., was matron-of-honor and wore a powder blue ballerina length gown with a fitted bodice and sweetheart neckline. She also wore a tiara of pink rosebuds. Her bouquet was composed of pink roses.

Lester Marsh, of Marshalls Creek, was his brother's best man. The ushers were Raymond Wert, of Catasauqua, and Carl L. Helms, of Williamsport.

The bride's mother wore a pastel silk print dress with navy blue accessories, while the mother of the bridegroom was attired in a maroon dress with white accessories.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home for approximately 50 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Marsh left later on a honeymoon trip to New York City. Mrs. Marsh chose for traveling a black gabardine suit with red accessories.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Marsh are graduates of East Stroudsburg High school. Mrs. Marsh is employed at the Wyckoff department store in a clerical position, while Mr. Marsh is serving in the United States Navy.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

And now comes dance recital time with all the mothers yelping about sewing fur on miles of skirt, and how hard tarleton is to work on. And instead, as you might think, I feel a little pang to be missing all the excitement, too.

However, we've already started to rearrange our dinner hour to coincide with the Little League practices, so I guess maybe I can still get a little martyrish satisfaction out of life.

Mothers are funny, all right, they get harried and pressed for time, and indignant that their efforts aren't appreciated and fuss and complain about something that in their secret hearts they're getting a big kick out of doing.

And maybe we've got more done if left undisturbed, but even if this column gets pretty confused when I'm called away from the typewriter to "quick, come look", I'll have you know that I can now identify a brown thrasher, and an Eastern Towhee, who is certainly a beautiful thing with black head, white stomach and red sides.

Oh children are worth it, and if we can blame them for those extra gray hairs, maybe we should at the same time give them credit for making the world seem young and fresh and new again.

Mothers Are Honored By WSCS Group

Cherry Valley - Poplar Valley —The regular monthly meeting of the Poplar Valley WSCS was held Wednesday, May 2, at the home of Mrs. Paul Albert, Sr. in Cherry Valley.

Preceding the meeting a pot luck dinner was held with Mrs. Albert serving escalloped chicken. The table was decorated for Mother's Day and the mothers of the members were honored. Each mother was presented with a favor, verse and narcissus.

Mrs. Albert and Mrs. Brewer sang a duet entitled, "What a Friend we have in Mother" and Mrs. Fred Dennis gave a reading on "Mother." Mrs. Norman Dennis read a poem for the occasion.

The birthday of Miss Joyce Gunn was also honored at this time when she was presented with a birthday cake by Mrs. Fred Dennis.

The meeting opened with election of officers for the coming year. Those chosen were: President, Mrs. Edward Gunn; vice president, Mrs. Thomas Carson; secretary, Mrs. Paul Albert, Sr.; treasurer, Mrs. Norman Dennis; assistant secretary, Mrs. Eric Schuchard.

Plans were made to hold a demonstration given by Mrs. Norman Dennis Friday night, May 25, at 8 o'clock at the social hall with Mrs. Wilfred Wagner and Mrs. Laura Brewer as hostesses. The public is cordially invited to attend. A merchandise club is also being formed to which public patronage is invited.

Those present were: Mrs. Wilfred Wagner, Mrs. Elmer Heffer, Mrs. Charlton Marsh, Mrs. Ernest Brewer and daughter Susan, Mrs. Thomas Carson, Miss Joyce Gunn, Miss Heeter, Mrs. Edward Gunn, Mrs. Eric Schuchard, Mrs. Norman Dennis and daughters Jean and Sally, Mrs. Ted Bush and son Scotty, Mrs. Orin Reish, Mrs. Howard Hartman, Mrs. Livingston Gunn, Rev. and Mrs. C. Clyde Levergood, Mrs. Fred Dennis, Mrs. Clarence Weiter and granddaughter Gail, Mrs. Donald Reish and son Lawrence and the hostess Mrs. Paul Albert. Norman Dennis was present for dinner.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday night, June 6 in the social hall with Mrs. Wilfred Wagner and Mrs. Laura Brewer as hostesses.

Miss Martin To Attend Group At Allentown

Miss Elizabeth G. Martin, Monroe county probation officer, will go to Allentown this morning where she will attend the three-day annual session of the Pennsylvania Association on Probation and Parole, starting at 10 o'clock and running through Wednesday.

One of the participants in the program will be Dr. E. Preston Sharp, chief of the division of training schools for Maryland department of welfare and director of the Maryland Commission on youth.

Others who will be on the program include Ralph Falconer, of Baltimore, Md., executive secretary of the city division of probation and parole; Charles F. Snyder, probation officer; G. Evelyn Miller, of the city parole and probation division and Wallace Reidt, managing director of the city crime justice division, and numerous others engaged in the parole and probation field.

The room was decorated with a bridal wreath and white shower umbrella under which the gifts were placed. A social time was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the hostess.

Those in attendance were: Mrs. James Brimer Sr., Mrs. Elsie Hinton, Mrs. Joseph Repsher, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Bentzoni, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Roberts, Mrs. Bert LeBar, Miss Mary Jane Williams, Miss Jill Strousser, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley M. Roberts, Mrs. Ruth Lang, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood LeBar, Mrs. Ida Krebs, Jay Fish, Misses Joyce, Marilyn, Carolyn and Barbara Fox, Mr. and Mrs. John Fox and the hostess, Miss Roberts.

Portland Group Sponsor At May Day Event

Portland — An Interdenominational May Day luncheon sponsored by the United Church Women of Portland and vicinity, was held in the Hainesburg Methodist Church, Mrs. E. S. Rosenberry gave the invocation, and Mrs. Ira Dutt, retiring president, presided.

Mrs. William Broad, of Stroudsburg, spoke on "Narcotics and Their Effect on Teen-Agers". An open discussion followed Mrs. Broad's talk. The theme of the meeting was "Thank God for Work."

Mrs. Rosenberry was elected president of the group. Other officers are: Mrs. Homer McEwen, Mrs. Harry Bellis, and Mrs. Ernest Courtney, vice-president; Mrs. Luther Ackerman, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Betty Wagner, recording secretary; Mrs. Phillip Strunk, treasurer; Mrs. Fred Gardner, publicity and Mrs. Griffith Davies, publicity.

Mrs. Davies conducted a song service after the business meeting, and Mrs. Walter Emery was accompanist. Mrs. Merritt Godshalk and Mrs. William Williams, accompanied by Mrs. Clark Kinney, presented a duet, Mrs. Williams conducted the program with a vocal solo, and Mrs. David Edwards gave the benediction.

MR. AND MRS. STEWARD WHITE shown about to cut the four tiered cake on their Golden Wedding anniversary.

50th Wedding Celebration Of Steward White And Wife

Open house was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Steward White, Arlington Heights, from 2 to 8 p. m., yesterday in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary. Many relatives and friends called and extended their good wishes.

Refreshments were served from a beautifully decorated table centered by a four-tier wedding cake baked by Mrs. Clyde White surmounted with a bell and the figures "50."

Mr. and Mrs. White were married in 1901 by the late Rev. B. F. Apple at the parsonage of St. John's Lutheran church, Stroudsburg. Mrs. White is the daughter of the late Calvin and Elizabeth Marsh and Mr. White is the son of the late David and Anna White.

The Whites have lived in this area all their lives. Mr. White being engaged in the concrete business with his son. They have two children, Clyde R. White and Mrs. H. J. Pine, Jr., also three grandchildren, Lola, Anne and Rollin White, and Linda Jo Pine. Mr. and Mrs. White were the recipients of many beautiful gifts and floral arrangements, among them a gold cigarette lighter and golden table service for four persons.

Music Week Opens With Fine Program

National Music week was given an auspicious opening at a community worship service at the Stroudsburg Methodist church last night when the program sponsored by the Music Club of the Stroudsburgs was presented before a delighted capacity audience.

The guest soloist was Roy Wilde, baritone, whose well rounded voice captivated his hearers. He was heard in three groups previously published in these columns, with Mrs. Eloise Lewis, his accompanist.

The Music club sang the Collect of National Federation of Music clubs, Rohrer, at the opening. The club also presented "Jerusalem! O Turn Thee to the Lord," Gounod, with June Mus, soloist. The group was also heard in the number, "God Is My Guide," Schubert. Mrs. Marlon A. Reinhardt was director of the chorus and Mrs. Anna B. Gish accompanist.

The Stroudsburg Methodist, Presbyterian, Lutheran and Evangelical Reformed and East Stroudsburg Methodist, Presbyterian and Lutheran churches cooperated in the services.

Rev. Frances C. Thomas gave the invocation and Rev. Ernest T. Campbell spoke on Music Week. Rev. Frank Wingerter read the scripture, Rev. Harold C. Eaton gave the prayer, Rev. W. F. Wunder the offertory address and Rev. Frank H. Blatt pronounced the benediction.

The ushers, members of the Junior Music club, were: Jane Pile, Carol Carpenter, Ann Fleming, Charlotte Herman, Ora Sutton and Glen Snyder.

Dr. Brean Will Talk To Club

Bangor — The Bangor Junior Woman's club will meet at the public library tonight at 7:30 o'clock at which time Dr. Robert D. Brean, assistant professor at Lehigh University, Bethlehem, will be guest speaker. His topic will be "Aid to the Consumer." The soloist will be Mrs. Dean F. Pinto.

The hostesses will be Mrs. William D. Scott, chairman; Mrs. Grace Reagle, Mrs. William F.

Miss Lorah Speaks On S. America

Miss Mabel Lorah, of West Pittston, gave an interesting talk on her year in South America at a combined meeting of the Wesleyan Service Guild and Women's Society of Christian Service on Friday night in the Stroudsburg Methodist church.

She gave a vivid picture of the work that is being done under the Woman's Division of the Methodist church in Peru, Chile, Argentina, Uruguay, Brazil and Puerto Rico as well as a detailed description of her school year at Lima High school where she taught home economics.

Her entire talk was illustrated by kodachrome slides which showed our Methodist schools, the grandeur of the Andes Mountains and the Chilean Lake region and the beauties of the many flowers that grow in that country. She also had a collection of the handwork of the Inca Indian and other native art.

The devotional period was led by Mrs. Parker Riday, secretary of Missionary Education of the Wesleyan Service guild. Mrs. Francis C. Thomas gave the invocation. Mrs. Tsuin Hwa Hsu, soprano soloist, sang "The Priceless Gift" by Gray; and the Choral Group of the WSCS under the direction of Mrs. William R. Levering sang two selections: "How Lovely Are the Messengers" by Mendelssohn and "Faith, Hope and Love" by Shelly. Mrs. Merlin Rutt accompanied the group and played the offertory.

The speaker was introduced by her sister, Mrs. William Davis. Mrs. George Slutter and Miss Bessie Heller acted as ushers.

Following the program which was held in the main Sunday school room the Guild served refreshments in the social room where the tea tables were decorated with spring flowers. Mrs. Robert Rasely and Mrs. Merlin Rutt poured. Mrs. Philip D. Lee was chairman of the hostess committee; Mrs. Robert Rasely, chairman of decorations.

Haynes Wins Ford Award Third Year

Haynes Motors Inc., N. Ninth St., Stroudsburg, has won the Ford Motor Co.'s special award for excellence in dealership operations during the past year.

Jess Haynes, president and owner of the Haynes dealership, was presented the four-letter award at a meeting of his managers. The presentation was made by Albert Bath, assistant district manager of the Chester Ford district.

The four letters of the award—FMSF—stand for finances, management, spirit and facilities. A dealership must prove its soundness and efficiency in each category before being eligible for the plaque.

The occasion marked the third straight year in which the Haynes dealership has received the special recognition.

Haynes Ford Co., formerly Haynes Motors, has been in business since 1942. The firm employs 21 persons in sales, service and clerical positions.

Jess Haynes, president, was connected with the Ford dealership in Trenton, N. J., as general manager before coming to Stroudsburg.

TWO YEARS AGO, quadruplets arrived to increase the family of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collins of the Bronx, N. Y., from three to seven. Here, the quads celebrate the happy anniversary with their mother, father, and big brother, Steve. The quads, standing behind the cake, are (l. to r.): Linda, Barbara, Edward and Andrew.

Scull Conquers Crabgrass, Auer's Paint Store Reports

Tony Auer says "crabgrass can be conquered." For generations crabgrass has been the bully of lawns. Its hot weather campaign every summer made the typical lawn loving family cower and cringe. That is the way it was until a year ago. Then some owners found that the new Scull was the David to help them knock out the giant.

At the morning service of the Methodist church by the pastor, Rev. Gail B. Wintermute.

The Kerriks later entertained at a family dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Hessler and sons, and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kerrik, of Hatboro, spent Sunday with the Kerrik families of Stoddardsville. Miss Lillian Sharp accompanied by a friend of Ardmore, spent the weekend at Stoddardsville.

Miss Helen Stull and Mrs. Ball spent Wednesday in Wilkes-Barre. Mrs. Ball called on Mrs. Bailey, mother of the late Major Henry Bailey.

Mrs. George Wick entertained at a quilting party Tuesday at the home of Mrs. William Wick, of Fern Ridge. A delicious sauerkraut dinner was served to the following: Mrs. Oliver Cobleigh, Mrs. Floyd Shadler, Mrs. Peter Hawk, Mrs. Daniel Starnes, Mrs. Audrey Serfass, Mrs. Grace Bush, Mrs. John Hanna, Mrs. J. J. Wildrick, Mrs. Howell, Mrs. William Wick and the hostess.

Miss Norma Siffles is soliciting subscriptions for magazines for the Junior class of the TTHS. Mrs. Lida Litts, of East Stroudsburg, Mrs. Harry Bonser and Gene and Judy of Pocono Pines, called on Mrs. Grace Bush, Wednesday afternoon.

All Models On Display At Store

Frank Miller of A. C. Miller Furniture store yesterday made the suggestion that a Lane cedar chest is the perfect Mother's Day gift. A good many times Mother is forgotten but if she is given her rights in this world and you select a genuine Lane cedar chest for her she will always have a lasting gift for her entire life to remember you by.

Why not stop in at Miller's Furniture store and select your Lane today. A. C. Miller's has been at Fourth and Main Sts. for over 50 years and for this great occasion Mother's Day, has purchased extra Lane cedar chests and put in a window full of them for everyone to see.

The moth-proof guaranteed Lane cedar chests are as low in price as $39.50. Miller's Furniture store has made special rates for you to make your Mother's Day purchase easy. All you have to pay is $1 down and $1.25 a week. Drop in at Miller's Furniture store or even look in the window and see that extra special display. Remember a Lane cedar chest is a gift that will be cherished every day.

Miller's Furniture store has every conceivable model on display in Lane cedar chests. You may select from modern styles in water-fall or plank top. Mahogany in the 18th century style, colonial maple and different types in various shades of blonde woods that will match with just about every bed room suite there is. Remember a Lane cedar chest may also be used as a nice window bench if a pretty pad is made for the top.

Don't forget that the friendly store of A. C. Miller's always welcomes you to come in and browse around without feeling obligated to buy.

Don't forget mother on May 13, even if you can afford only to give her a big hug and kiss. She will always appreciate that. Don't forget that A. C. Miller's wish each and every Mother the grandest "Mother's Day" there ever was on May 13.

New York Seeks Non-Resident Tax

New York (AP) — Acting Mayor Joseph Sharkey has announced that he will introduce a resolution in the city council Tuesday calling for the legislature to empower the city to impose a 1 1/2 per cent payroll tax on non-residents employed in the city.

He said that he estimates about 1,500,000 non-residents are employed in the city and that a 1 1/2 per cent tax would net the city between $90,000,000 and $1,000,000,000 yearly.

Sharkey explained that the purpose of the bill would be to reduce and eventually eliminate the 3 per cent sales tax.

He also intends, he said, to introduce a resolution for the purpose of "keeping alive" the administration's recent proposal to impose a one per cent payroll tax on all persons employed in the city. That tax plan calls for the employer to pay the levy.

Honolulu, (AP) — Strong security forces are patrolling 40,000 square miles of the Pacific to prevent snoopers from watching the finale of the current Eniwetok atomic tests, expected this week.

Fire Causes Big Loss At Plant

Conshohocken, Pa., (AP) — Fire at the Lee Tire and Rubber Co. plant caused damage estimated at $500,000 Saturday.

The fire was started by an explosion in a rubber-working machine. Flames and smoke poured through the building.

Damage to the plasticator machine accounted for about half the loss, Vice president E. E. Leach said.

The plasticator prepares raw rubber and other materials to be used in manufacturing tires.

Two operators fled to safety. An estimated 5,000 pounds of raw rubber was destroyed in the blaze.

Tax Hearing Opens Today In Capital

Harrisburg, (AP)—The Pennsylvania General assembly's session-long battle over taxes reaches a climax today at a public hearing.

The Senate Finance committee will hear contrasting views from representatives of industry and labor on Gov. John S. Fine's $163,000,000 tax program. The hearing is expected to last most of the day.

The hard core of the tax controversy is the Governor's proposal for a flat levy of one-half of one per cent on individual incomes to $119,000,000 in the two year period, starting June 1.

He also has proposed a one per cent increase from four to five per cent in the corporate net income tax to raise an additional $44,000,000.

Labor organizations have stoutly opposed the individual income tax bill. Representatives of industry groups have indicated their support for it as providing a broad-based levy.

Those invited to present their tax views at the hearing include: Harry Boyer, president of the State Council of the Congress of Industrial Organizations; James L. McDevitt, president of the AFL-Pennsylvania Federation of Labor; Lester Thomas, of the United Mine Workers; G. Mason Owlett, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers association; Dr. Leonard P. Fox, executive director of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce; Arthur Davies, Pittsburgh, representing small business, and Gwilym A. Price, president of the Westinghouse Electric Co., representing 25 manufacturing corporations.

Richardson Dilworth, defeated Democratic candidate for Governor last year, announced he would press at the hearing for adoption of an alternate tax program to avoid the individual income levy.

That program includes continuance of the present one-cent soft drink tax, which raises $30,000,000, one per cent increase in the corporate income tax and cutting departmental budget allocations to make up the difference.

Fine, in his campaign last year, promised to drop the soft drink tax and made no provision for its re-enactment in submitting the State's $1,220,000,000 budget. Budget estimates proposed to be cut under the alternate plan would be a proposed civil defense appropriation from $20,000,000 to $2,000,000.

The Governor's tax program has traveled a rocky course through the assembly. The individual income tax bill was first defeated in the House then revived and passed by that chamber. The House rejected demands for a public hearing on the tax program but the Senate agreed to hold one. The corporate net income increase passed the House unanimously when the Senate demanded it should have that measure also when the public hearing is held.

In another development, Charles H. Frazier of the Pennsylvania Citizens association wrote Governor Fine the group has "a growing concern over delay in introducing legislation in the assembly to carry out your well-laid plans regarding public health."

Frazier, chairman of the Public Health division of the PCA, told the Governor in a letter that "Dr. Russell A. Teague must be given the tools with which to work in the State Health department."

"Without enabling legislation the department will have its hands tied for another biennium. We feel strongly, however, that further delay may jeopardize the effort unnecessarily," Frazier added.

150 Invitations Disappear With African 'Helper'

Mombasa, Kenya, (AP)—Local Moslems are irked and crying "sabotage."

For weeks, they planned a big party and reception for officers and sailors of a Pakistan naval squadron visiting Mombasa. When all was ready, 700 invitations were sent out. But when the big day arrived, 150 from the very top drawer failed to show up.

The Moslems, fearing boycott, investigated. They found that an African messenger boy they sent out with the bids fell in with another African who offered to help. The latter took the top 150 invitations and disappeared. At last reports he was in Tanganyika. No reason has been advanced for his flight.

Another party is being planned for Tuesday. The Moslems are making different arrangements for delivery of the invitations.

It has been estimated that China has about 180 people per square mile compared with about 50 in the United States.

The mite referred to in the Bible was a Jewish coin worth about one-eighth of a cent.

Girls To Give Uniforms To Other Groups

The Girl Guard troop of the Stroudsburgs has decided to give its old uniforms to a troop that has no money with which to buy new uniforms. The uniforms of the Girl Guards are being given to the Sayre, Pa. troop. The Sunbeam uniforms will be given to Berwick, Pa. Both corps have troops but have been unable to buy uniforms as yet.

Every Girl Guard and Sunbeam is asked to turn in her old uniform so that they can be packed and sent on to the troops.

The new uniforms for the Sunbeams are expected to arrive this week, so that they will be in time for the mother and daughter banquet to be held on Monday, May 14.

Portland Runs Wild Over Johnsonville

Portland — Portland's entry in the Blue Mountain League ran wild here on its home field yesterday and opened the 1951 campaign with a 21-4 decision over Johnsonville, behind the seven hit pitching of George Kays, a right hander.

The outcome of the contest was only in doubt until Chief Burgess Dr. Howard Ott threw out the first ball. After that the outcome of the contest was signed, sealed and delivered before the first frame was completed.

Hit Hard

Portland banged four Johnsonville pitchers for 13 hits, scoring six runs in the first, four in the second, one in the fifth, six more in the seventh and wound up the day's activity with four more counters in the bottom of the eighth.

Johnsonville touched Kays for one tally in the fifth and three more in the seventh.

Ten Johnsonville errors also figured heavily in the scoring, as did nine bases on balls.

Portland also plays home next Sunday, when the charges of Manager LeRoy "Cheesy" Egbert entertain Stockertown, at 2:30 p. m.

RECORD VAULT—George DeLong, ace ESSTC pole vaulter, is pictured in the top photo clearing the bar at 10 feet and six inches without even removing his sweat suit. The bottom picture shows DeLong hitting the sawdust after clearing the bar at 12 feet and four inches, which set a new school record. The old mark was held by Henry "Hank" Arneberg, Newfoundland, at 12 feet and three inches. ESSTC went on to win the meet, 94-32, from Ithaca College on Saturday.

Roseto Defeats Stockertown With Four In Sixth Inning

Stockertown—Roseto launched its 1951 Blue Mountain League baseball campaign with a 6-4 victory over Stockertown here on the losing team's home field yesterday, as 300 people watched the two clubs go through their paces for the first time this season.

Dick Pritchard limited the Stockertown contingent to a total of seven hits and it wasn't until the fifth frame that the home team was able to solve Pritchard's fast ball and giant curve for a run.

Johnson Drives To Victory In Pittston

Pittston—Dale Johnson, Reeder, driving a stock car owned by Bernard "Bernie" Clemens, East Stroudsburg, streaked to victory in the feature event here at Bone Stadium yesterday, before more than 5,000 shrieking customers.

Johnson started the main event in fifth place, jumped into the lead almost immediately, relinquished it for awhile, then went out in front once again near the halfway mark and held the upper hand the remainder of the distance.

The East Stroudsburg entry finished third in the first heat, but came back to win the event that counts. No times were announced for the events.

Clemens' car developed engine trouble on the same track last week and Johnson was forced out of action when the car broke down in the first trial.

A total of 65 cars were entered in yesterday's program.

Derby Winner Goes To New York

Louisville, Ky.—Old Derbytown still buzzed yesterday with praise for a colt with an illustrious name and a jockey many said was all washed up and had lost his nerve.

Count Turf, winner of the richest Kentucky Derby in history, and half-pint Conn McCree are heading back to New York, where they're going to get a Broadway welcome.

This son of the great Count Fleet, which showed his heels to 19 rivals in the mile and one-quarter classic Saturday before a probable record Derby throng of some 100,000, has no other place to go now than back to the big town.

The announcement came from Major General Milton Reckord, president of the Maryland Jockey Club.

Reckord said $75,000, the amount originally set aside for the single race, will be put up for each division of the split if it occurs.

The 12 horse race to follow at the Pimlico track a week later would have a separate purse of $50,000, General Reckord said.

The first four Derby horses are ineligible for the Preakness.

Plans Announced For Preakness

Baltimore, Md.—The seventy-fifth running of the Preakness May 19 will be a two-division affair with a $150,000 purse if 18 or more three year olds start, the Maryland Jockey club announced last night.

If the split comes off, an other $50,000 will be put up on May 26 for a dream race at Pimlico pitting the four top horses of the year's Kentucky Derby against the first four in each division of the Preakness.

Records Set As ESSTC Swamps Ithaca

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College ran all over Ithaca College in a track and field event on the former's home track on Saturday, 94-32, and in so doing set one new school record and tacked a pair of new track marks in the book. The meet was the only home affair of the season for the charges of Coach Howard DeNike.

The school record written into the book was inscribed by George DeLong, who cleared the bar at 12 feet and four inches in the pole vault event. The new record is one inch better than that held by Henry "Hank" Arneberg, Greene-Dreher High school coach. Arneberg set his mark in 1933, at 12 feet and three inches.

Nejako Shines

Mark Nejako was responsible for the two track records, setting one in the mile-run and the other in the 880-yard event. Nejako covered the mile distance in 4:38.2 and the half-mile in 2:01.2. Nejako holds the school record for the half mile, at 1:58.7, while Bernie Bonner holds the mile mark, at 4:30.2.

ESSTC won ten of the 14 events and swept all three places in a trio of events.

The outcome of the meet was never in doubt as ESSTC took a huge lead right off the bat, to win going away.

ESSTC won its second of two dual meets this year, having lost to West Chester in the opener.

Summary follows:

Pole Vault — DeLong, ESSTC; Bob Fisher, ESSTC; Lynn Decker, ESSTC, 12 feet 4 inches.

220 yard dash — Bill Hillman, ESSTC; Art Voss, ESSTC; Harry Crocker, Ithaca, 23.5 seconds.

220 yard hurdles — Henry "Hank" Miller, Ithaca; Dick Postler, ESSTC; John Patterson, ESSTC, 27.1 seconds.

High Jump — Triple tie — Roger Neilson, Norman Friend, Jake Hager, all of ESSTC, 5 feet 3 inches.

880 — Nejako, ESSTC; Ray Ockerman, Ithaca; Bob Brown, ESSTC, 2:01.2.

120 yard high hurdles — Miller, Ithaca; John Parks, ESSTC; Frank Contwell, ESSTC, 16.8 seconds.

Discus — Bill Brickwork, Ithaca; Bob Plaine, ESSTC; Bill Riehl, ESSTC, 114 feet 9 1/2 inches.

100 yard dash — Hillman, ESSTC; Phil Spaziani, ESSTC; Crocker, Ithaca, 10.2 seconds.

440 yard run — Ockerman, Ithaca; Bob Williams, ESSTC; Barry Fisher, ESSTC, 2:08 seconds.

One mile — Nejako, ESSTC; Brown, ESSTC; Bill Prater, ESSTC, 4:38.2.

Shot Put — Howard Postlerbaugh, ESSTC; Tom Grater, ESSTC; Brickwork, Ithaca, 41 feet, six inches.

Javelin — Elkie "Jake" Brinkley, ESSTC; Nick Levandis, ESSTC; Bill Baker, Ithaca, 120 feet, 2 inches.

Broad Jump — Spaziani, ESSTC; Philip, ESSTC; Dan O'Sullivan, Ithaca, 21 feet, 1/2 inch.

Chambers Hurls No-Hitter

Boston (AP) — Left hander Cliff Chambers whose record never has been outstanding, yesterday pitched a no hitter as the Pittsburgh Pirates blanked the Boston Braves 3-0, in the second game of a doubleheader. Chambers walked eight batters but only one of them reached third, and he struck out four in registering the first no hitter since the Braves' Vern Bickford performed the rare deed last August, beating Brooklyn 7-0.

Warren Spahn chalked up his second shutout of the season in the opener, 6-0, as Murray Dickson of the Bucs suffered his first defeat after winning three games this year.

In only one inning was the tall, 29-year-old Chambers in danger. That was in the sixth when he walked rookie pitcher George Estabrook who made his first start of the season for the Braves. Chambers wild pitched Estabrook to second and Roy Harrisfield sacrificed pushing George to third.

Earl Torgeson, who usually can hit the blond Chambers' offerings, drew a base on balls.

Bob Elliott, who had hit safely on each of his four times at bat in the opening game, here tried his mightiest to break up the developing no hitter and the ball game. He swiped a mighty blast to right center but the wind held it up long enough for the hard running Gus Bell to move under it and take it over his head.

In the last of the ninth with one out and the Boston crowd cheering on the Pittsburgher, heavy hitting Walker Cooper slugged a lon drive to center which George Metkovich pulled down near the "390" foot sign. Metkovich also ran at full tilt to grab Luis Olmo's long fly for the game ending putout.

Metkovich continued running until he reached Chambers and presented him the ball after struggling through other teammates who had poured from the bench to deal him hearty, congratulatory backslaps.

The remains of a 13,492 crowd stood as one person and cheered the big pitcher until he disappeared in the runway leading to the dressing room.

Washington, Cleveland Split Doubleheader As Brissie Loses First, Saves Second Tilt

Cleveland, (AP)—Southpaw Lou Brissie lost the opener but saved the second game for Cleveland yesterday as the Indians split a doubleheader with the Washington Senators. Eddie Yost's three-run homer in the first game helped Pitcher Julio Moreno win it 8-1; and Al Rosen hit a two-run homer in the second inning of the Tribe's 4-2 nightcap victory.

Rookie Bob Chakales, a right hander making his first major league start, put the first two Senators on base in the ninth when Eddie Yost singled and Gil Coan drew Chakales' eighth walk of the game. Brissie cut off the rally by getting the next three men on a foul, a fly and a strikeout.

Five Hits

The Senators made only five hits off Chakales, but cashed in on the youngster's wildness for both their tallies in the third. Coan and Sam Mele singled, and Chakales walked Sherry Robertson and Cass Michaels to force in a run. Sam Dente's fly to right scored another before the rally ended.

Al Rosen's second homer of the season after a walk in the first inning got Cleveland off to a 2-0 lead in the nightcap. Ray Boone drove in two more runs off southpaw Bob Ross with a single in the third after Harry Simpson's single and Allie Clark's double.

Moreno scattered seven hits in the opener and led all the way. A double by Rosen in the third scored Dale Mitchell, who singled, and spoiled the Cuban's bid for a shutout.

Mickey Vernon, Washington's first baseman, turned his ankle in a pick-off play at second base in the final inning of the opener, and did not play in the second game. X-rays showed no fracture.

Red Sox Held Even By Browns

St. Louis, (AP)—The St. Louis Browns dropped a ten-inning decision to Boston, 5-4, yesterday but roared back with an 8-2 victory in the last end of a doubleheader—a contest which was interrupted 49 minutes by rain. Ted Williams homered with none on in the tenth to break up the first game. In the nightcap, catcher Sherm Lollar of the Browns slammed a three-run home run off Mel Parnell to put his team in front to stay.

Al Widmar gave up eight hits in victory of the season. He helped his own cause at the bat, too, driving in two runs in the eighth inning with a double.

Boston's starter, Mel Parnell, pitched six innings of the nightcap. He allowed five hits, including Lollar's homer in the fourth.

Wait Masterson took over in the seventh, retired the side and then ran into trouble in the eighth, when St. Louis scored four runs to clinch the ball game.

Foley Hurls Hitless Ball

Readers — Tom Foley pitched hitless ball here yesterday as Anomalink defeated Readers, 3-1, in a pre-season practice game between the two Pocono Mountain League rivals.

The only Readers run came when relief hurler Lloyd "Sunny" Woodling walked and kept on going, as he stole second, third and home.

Homer
Anomalink tallied all its runs in the first frame, when Melvin "Bub" Bush blasted a 350-foot home run into right center field with two mates aboard.

No official score of the game was kept.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

George DeLong and Mark Nejak are the talk of the campus at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College this washday morning—and rightfully so. This pair of track and field stars put on a show that few followers of the ESSTC cinder fortunes will ever forget. DeLong set a school mark in the pole vault, while Nejak came through with track records in both the mile and half-mile events.

DeLong bettered by one-inch the previous record in the pole vault compiled by Henry "Hank" Arneberg, coach at Greene-Dreher High, who is currently studying for his masters degree at New York University. Arneberg set the old mark in 1933, at 12 feet and three inches. DeLong was expected to dominate the pole vault event for ESSTC this season, but prior to Saturday's meet with Ithaca nobody was talking about new records.

However, when the bar was raised to 11 feet, everyone paying close attention to the pole vault event had a feeling down deep that DeLong had a chance to bring home the bacon. The Ithaca entries had been eliminated from the event and only three ESSTC hopefuls were in there fighting for the top position. Lynn Decker was the first of the home trio to bow out and Bob Fisher followed suit after the bar had been raised to a little more than 12 feet.

DeLong worked slowly and calmly and on his third try cleared the bar at 12 feet, four inches, to set a new school record. Not satisfied, the likeable vaulter cleared the bar at 12 feet, six inches, only to knock it off with his elbow on the way down. Two more tries at the same altitude failed to make the grade and DeLong had to settle for a new record of one inch more than the previous mark.

In Nejak's case it was just a well conditioned athlete gaining an early lead and running the remainder of the field into the ground. In both the mile and half-mile events, Nejak appears to be in as good condition as any athlete I've ever seen at the local college and it certainly tells in his running. In both events Nejak had things his own way, as he set the pace and virtually named the manner in which both races were to be run.

Bernie Bonner holds the mile record for ESSTC, running the distance in 4:30.2 seconds, at Cortland, N. Y., State Teachers College, in 1942. Nejak holds the school's half-mile mark, gaining the honor last year at the Pennsylvania State Teachers College meet at Shippensburg, when he streaked to victory in 1:58.7. Nejak reportedly has covered the half-mile distance in 1:57 and the mile in 4:37 during practice sessions. Marks of this type will put Nejak in good standing in the state meet next week.

As a matter of fact, the entire ESSTC team has a fine chance to make a good showing next week. Although the Warriors are away with Ithaca College on Saturday, the team did show two departments that will cause plenty of concern next Saturday. The home team featured three men in a tie for first place in the high jump event, but none were extended enough to show much strength. The second department to show a weakness is the hurdles, both low and high. Otherwise, ESSTC will be right in there fighting for the state title next Saturday, at least the Warriors will be if they show the same power they demonstrated against Ithaca.

Ernie Frantz, a member of the ESSTC basketball team two years ago before a knee injury forced him out of action, was on hand to witness Saturday's track meet on Normal Hill. Frantz is currently a member of the Marine Corps. Speaking of basketball brings to mind the fact that Ray Welsh, outstanding coach of ESSTC cage machine for the past four years, was the official starter on Saturday, while Bill Schmidt, one of the top cage artists at ESSTC, was one of the major officials at the meet. Bill's mother and sister visited the likeable Pratt transfer over the weekend, making the long trip from Florida.

Friday's "Varsity 8" minstrel at ESSTC cleared about $130 for the "Varsity 8" club. The money is used to honor all letter winners in varsity sports at the local college. Ernie Carotta, currently catching for Portland, of the Blue Mountain League, held down a similar position with Mt. Pocono, of the Pocono Mountain League, in recent year. Carotta, who is also a bowler of note in Monroe county circles is a resident of East Stroudsburg.

Yanks Take Measure Of Tigers

By Harry Stapler

Detroit, (AP)—The New York Yankees' murderous bats battered out their eighth straight win while rookie relief pitcher Tom Morgan hand-cuffed the Detroit Tigers 11 to 6 yesterday.

The league leading Yankees, sparked by 19-year-old Mickey Mantle's three hits, rapped five Detroit pitchers for 12 hits. Pinch-hitter Johnny Hopp homered for the Yanks.

Big Innings
The Yankees, who have scored 53 runs and smacked 65 hits in the last four games, rolled up two four-run innings. Morgan won his second game against one defeat. Detroit's "Hank" Borowy, making his first appearance, was the loser. Mantle smashed in three runs with his singles, while Phil Rizzuto of the Yanks pushed his hitting streak to eight straight games with a run-producing single.

Detroit scored once in the ninth and loaded the bases with two out as 37,078 fans shrieked for a rally. But young Morgan struck out Pinchhitter Charley Keller, ex-Yankee home run hitter, to end the game.

East Bangor Downs West Bangor In Opener, 7-1

Dietz Scatters Seven Hits Over Distance

East Bangor — East Bangor launched the Blue Mountain League baseball season with a convincing 7-1 victory over West Bangor, defending title holder, here yesterday before an estimated crowd of 400 people. The opening day festivities included a parade, flag raising ceremony and a speech by Attorney James Pritchard. Following the pregame activities, East Bangor proceeded to lay down the law.

Jim Dietz, veteran right hander, spun a successful seven-hitter and would have had a shutout, if Earl Brittain hadn't bobbled a grounder in the third frame.

The home club was in the driver's seat most of the way, scoring once in the first and then breaking a 1-1 deadlock with two counters in the bottom of the third.

Extra Runs
East Bangor held the upper hand the remainder of the distance and put the contest on ice with two markers in the sixth and eighth rounds respectively.

Dietz allowed only one extra hit, a double by Valetta, retired five on strikes and gave up only two free tickets to first base.

Elio Uliana went the distance for West Bangor and gave up only eight safeties in as many innings of action. Uliana's pitching record was just opposite to that of Dietz, as the West Bangor hurler walked five and retired two on strikes.

East Bangor will oppose Pocono A. C. at Gordon Giffels field next Sunday, in the first home league game of the season for the Monroe County entry.

Cardinals Use Big Inning To Trip Dodgers

Brooklyn, (AP)—The league-leading St. Louis Cardinals blew a five-run lead but rallied for six runs in the eighth inning to defeat the Brooklyn Dodgers, 11-7, yesterday. Jackie Robinson's first error of the season, on a potential doubleplay ball, contributed to the Cards' big eighth.

Tom Poholsky, young Card righthander, enjoyed a 5-0 lead going into the fifth. Then, with two out, he walked two batters and served a home run ball to "Duke" Snider. The Dodgers scored four runs in the seventh to take a 7-5 lead. "Pee Wee" Reese's grand slam homer featured the uprising.

Winner
Cloyd Boyer, third Cardinal pitcher, served up Reese's homer but, ironically, he was the winning pitcher as the Cards rebounded in the eighth. Rookie Joe Pesko protected the advantage over the final two innings.

A capacity crowd of 32,200 saw Ralph Branca fail in a relief role for the first time this season.

After walking one and permitting two hits in the eighth, Branca left with one run in, two on and one out. Phil Haugstad then got Pinch Hitter Bill Howerton to hit a sharp doubleplay grounder to Robinson, only to have the all-star second sacker permit it to leak through his legs for his first error of the season.

A double by Pinch Hitter Glen Nelson and a single by Enos Slaughter off Earl Mossor made it a big inning. Stan Musial, whose double helped Tom Poholsky off to a two-run lead in the first, made two of the three outs.

Musial's triple, a single by Joe Gargioli and a homer by Sol Hems, the first of his major league career make it 5-0. St. Louis ... 200 300 060—11 10 1

Planes Take Part In Futile Search For Angler's Bodies

Lake Wallenpaupack—A group of rescue workers from Easton and Allentown, assisted by residents of this locale, Milford State police, fish wardens and game wardens continued the search here yesterday for two fishermen believed lost in over 50 feet of water here on April 15.

Two planes from the Paupack Civil Air patrol unit also flew over the northeast section of the lake both Saturday and yesterday, but State police said there were no traces of the lost fishermen reported when the last flight was made late yesterday.

The two anglers, Harry A. Confer, 35, of Allentown, and Amos Noble Jr., 39, of Wilson Borough, were lost on the first day of the fishing season when their boat capsized in exceedingly rough lake waters.

Capt. John Kreitner, commanding officer of the Paupack CAP unit, based at Honesdale, and Lt. Cecil Gager, Honesdale, pilot. According to Gager, the flying was "rough and nasty" over the 12 and one-half mile lake. Flying low was an especially ticklish proposition, he said, because of updrafts and air pockets.

The aviator added that Lester and Robert Holbert, of Honesdale, made the planes available for the flights over the lake. The Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. also provided an equipped boat for the use of rescue workers.

Dear Sir:

The case of Allen Kunkle has aroused very widespread comment throughout the county. Most taxpayers, like myself, are much interested, but sorely puzzled. We just can not understand how such things can happen.

Our elected officials are handling our taxes. Yet, money disappears over a four-year period before it is found out. Then we read of the charges made by the Sheriff against the Auditors' report and the comments of the Judge who apparently supports the Sheriff for he calls him "a courageous officer."

What is wrong, Mr. Editor? Can you answer some of our questions?

Just how can large sums disappear over a four year period during which time there were four complete yearly audits by three auditors?

Are the auditors careless, or incompetent, or is the whole auditing system loose and slipshod, or is the entire system completely unsuited to present day municipal finance?

And again, do we have to wait for the election of a new office to have pointed out to us apparent errors in the disbursements of county funds. A prominent visiting judge by his remarks indicated approval of the Sheriff's charges and so far I haven't seen them explained or answered. Why not?

Would it not be plain common sense to have a complete study made of our county accounting and auditing procedures? It might be done by a firm of public accountants, specializing in municipal work, selected and paid by the County Commissioners, or an appointed non-partisan citizens committee, or professors in municipal government from one of our nearby universities who might do this as part of their required summer study.

The tendency seems to be to blame the whole thing on "politics", but the honesty or dishonesty of a county official handling public funds should be so easy to prove that no taint of "politics" could arise.

Public confidence in elected officials of both parties has been severely shaken. If this case is allowed to drop it will become a festering sore and political "arguments" will sink to a low level of rumors and cross rumors of alleged dishonesty of every candidate, especially those who are now or have been in public office.

Is it not the time for us to act as progressive citizens, proud of our community and with confidence in the vast majority of our elected officials and take the necessary steps to diagnose the cause of our troubles and effect a permanent cure?

Rev. Kramer Serves Two Congregations

Portland—Rev. Arthur Kramer of Easton will be the new pastor of the Mt. Bethel Lutheran church which consists of Trinity church, Martins Creek, and St. Paul's church at Stone church, Rev. Kramer has assumed his duties.

Rev. Kramer has occupied the pulpits of the charge as supply pastor since December. Before that he studied at the Lutheran Bible Institute, Minneapolis, Minn., where he met his wife, the former Judy Borsvold.

A native of Philadelphia, the new pastor spent his early life in Penfield, Delaware county, and graduated from Gettysburg College and its seminary in 1944. He served parishes in Spokane, Wash. and Bellevue, Neb. Later he took clinical training in pastoral counseling and psychiatric work at Augustana hospital, Chicago, Ill.

Mt. Bethel charge has been without a pastor since Rev. L. K. Ur-laub resigned last summer.

Spark From Forest Fire Blamed For Truck Blaze Causing $15,000 Damage

Saylorburg—A truckload of cloth material, valued at $15,000, was totally destroyed by fire on Route 115 two miles south of here at 3 p. m. Saturday when sparks from a forest fire apparently became lodged in the cargo and later were fanned into open flames.

Motorists behind the burning cargo chased the vehicle for several miles before the driver realized something was amiss and pulled over to the side of the highway.

State police of the Brodheadsville substation said Irwin H. Ziegler, 36, of 245 S. Franklin St., Allentown, was returning to that city from Ellensburg, N. Y.

Ziegler is an employee of the Rose Sportswear Manufacturing Co., of Allentown, which had rented the truck from the Hunsicker Service station, Allentown, for the trip to Ellensburg.

Neither Ziegler nor a helper on the truck, Irving Gross, of Bethlehem, was injured. Police said that damage to the truck was slight, even though the cargo of cloth was ruined.

Troopers indicated that the bolt material had smoldered in the open truck for nearly two hours before Mitchell Schaffer, a Bethlehem motorist, was successful in signaling Ziegler.

Ziegler then pulled the truck to a halt and discovered for the first time that flames were shooting from the back of the vehicle. He told police he thought the constant tooting of the auto horns was the work of impatient drivers who wished to pass the truck. When none made an effort to shoot past him, he became puzzled and studied Schaffer's signals more closely.

Ziegler, Gross and Schaffer used a small hand extinguisher in the truck to little avail, then summoned the Blue Ridge Hook and Ladder Co., of Saylorburg.

The driver told police he had passed close to several forest fires on the trip from New York state. He recalled that one fire in the Shawangunk range between Ellensburg and Port Jervis was particularly close to the highway, and

Old Maids Prove As Beautiful As Married Women

Los Angeles, (AP)—On the average, spinsters are as beautiful as wives. But they don't smile nearly as often.

So says Dr. H. K. Moore, psychologist at Argansas A and M College, after comparing 176 married women and the same number of old maids on a list of 104 traits.

In an article in Family Life, publication of the American Institute of Family Relations here, Dr. Moore disclosed yesterday that he found both groups were equal in beauty, intelligence and in their enjoyment of housekeeping.

But he said that spinsters are more likely to have unhappy dispositions, to fear sex and to be self-centered fault-finders who want their own way.
